A New York special says a noted Tammany ruffian, expelled from a sinecure which he held under Tweed & Co., claims to have absolute knowledge of the Nathan murder. He offers to make revelations that will lead to the murderer's capture if he can obtain pardon for one of his fellowactives who seems to have been an accomplice in the crime.

The General Sessions Grand Jury has found further indictments against W. M. Tweed and Richard B. Connolly, and also indictments against Thomas C. Fields and James M. Sweeny.

The New York Evening Post of the 5th states that the Committee of American Shareholders opposed to the present Erie managers have been empowered to act for the stockholders in this country holding ten million shares. This added to the thirty millions of English shares, leaves only about three or four millions necessary to enable them to victoriously oust Fisk and Gould.

The Senate has confirmed P. B. Sinnet, Indian Agent at Grand Ronde Agency, Oregon; Robert G. Stewart, Receiver of Public Monies, Olympia, W. T.; Alfred E. Shannon, Register of Land Office, Austin, Nev.; T. D. Odonel, Superintendent of Indian Affairs for Oregon; Fred. D. Grant to be Second Lieutenant, vice Pierce, deceased, in the Fourth Regiment of Cavalry.

Small pox has been making fearful ravages at Philadelphia. During the first month of 1871 the number of deaths from this disease was about fifteen. During the last month the number exceed one thousand.

The political factions in Louisiana have been making serious trouble. Gov. Warmouth, head of one faction, was arrested by the U. S. Marshal, who is a member of the opposition, under the Ku Klux act, on a charge of conspiracy. In the Legislature the fight was bitter, and a number of Warmouth members were expelled. President Grant had been telegraphed to, and had replied that he would cause the extraordinary conduct of the U. S. Marshal to be investigated at once. At latest advices Warmouth men were getting the better of their opponents. Gov. Warmouth was released, and no further trouble was apprehended.

On the 7th inst., through trains from San Francisco, which had been snowed in near Cheyenne for fifteen days, arrived at Omaha.

Under the influence of a rumor of a rupture with Spain gold in New York on the 8th had risen to 109¾ and market strong.

Foreign.

Official advices from Aspahan show that the famine in Persia continues without diminution. Entire districts have been depopulated, and efforts to relieve them are unavailing.

The execution of the murderers of Generals Lecompte and Thomas, will soon take place at Paris.

The French have done one sensible thing in their lives. They have defeated Victor Hugo for the Assembly.

A dispatch from London states that Joseph Gillott, the steel pen maker, is dead.

A Madrid letter says the tone of the Spanish press is very belligerent in respect to the attitude of the United States on the Cuban question.

The London Times of the 5th again discusses the subject of the Alabama claims, maintaining that American argument embodies an entire misconception of the views and feelings of the English Government at the outbreak of the war.

The total number of deaths from small pox in London during the last year was 8,000, the average of the 31 years preceding is 600. Medical journals call attention to this alarming increase, and warn the public to take all necessary precautions, and appeal to the Government to impose rigid sanitary regulations, establish special hospitals and carefully quarantine infected districts.

There is considerable talk in London of transferring the property in and the control of the Atlantic cables to the joint Government of Great Britain and the United States. The proposition is received with favor, in anticipation that it may result in a reduction of the present exorbitant tariff rates.

The British Secretary of War, in a speech at Oxford, said that the illness of the Prince of Wales had served to bring out a strong reciprocal sympathy which always existed between a constitutional sovereign and a free people. He estimated that the attention of Parliament would be devoted to several social measures for the improvement and welfare of the people.

The Spanish Question.

From latest advices it would appear that trouble of a serious character between our Government and that of Spain, growing out of Cuban affairs, is not improbable. A dispatch from Washington, January 4th, to the New York Times, says:

Our Government accepts the change of Ministry at Madrid as hostile to the conciliatory policy heretofore pursued regarding affairs in Cuba, and the outrages growing therefrom. It also accepts the reported recall of Senor Roberts as a further proof of friendly feeling, but there is yet no positive information as to the course of the Spanish Government. The recent overhauling of the Florida will be continued. Meantime the Navy Department is preparing, and navy orders which may be given are to be interpreted as measures of preparation on the part of our Government.

From another dispatch we learn this:

From sources altogether reliable it is ascertained that the administration has not, as has been stated, changed its policy on the Cuban question, but continues to act according to principles heretofore declared, namely: That while it will observe strict neutrality in regard to the difficulties now existing in the Island of Cuba, it cannot consent that our merchant vessels shall be molested in their lawful pursuits, and overhauled and examined, unless they are found guilty of committing some violation of Spanish authority.

In accordance with this policy our Government has protested against the act of Spanish naval officers in boarding and searching the Florida on the high seas, and has required the Spanish Government—first, to apologize; second, to disavow the act of the officer; third, to punish him, and fourth, to pay damages. That the Spanish Government will meet these requirements is not doubted.

The latest intelligence on this subject is that of January 6th, and is comprised in the following:

Secretary ... was informed that President Grant had demanded an apology from Spain a few days since. Montore are now being fitted out at Philadelphia, but not intended to proceed to Spain unless that Government refuses to apologize and pay remuneration for the outrage on the Florida. The President does not think the outrage an intentional insult on the part of Spain, but deems it rather the result of rashness of the subordinate officers of that nation. The President and General Sickles had a long conversation on the Spanish difficulty. The President is more than ever determined to exact ample apology.

The Catacazy Affair.

London dispatches of the 4th inst. give the following in relation to the Catacazy affair:

Prince Gortschakoff, in a recent communication to Curtin, American Minister at St. Petersburg, announced that the Russian Government had concluded to recall Catacazy from Washington. Gortschakoff writes that the difficulty arose and continued during his absence from the Capital. The Prince says that he cannot but regret that some of the correspondence which passed in regard to the matter at Washington appeared to be wanting in respect to the representative of Russia. He continues: "We shall investigate the conduct of Catacazy when he has had an opportunity of presenting his case in person, as he formally denies the justice of the complaints made against him in Washington. We must suspend judgment until we have heard his defense." The Prince, in conclusion, declares that these unfortunate circumstances will not, he is confident, impair the old cordial friendship between the United States and Russia, of which there has been so recent a demonstration in the reception of the Grand Duke Alexis in America.

The woolen mills at Ashland, Jackson county, are again in operation.

A nugget of pure gold weighing half a pound was picked up on Rogue river a few days ago.

Attorney General Williams' residence at Washington is No. 1,812 I street. Mrs. Williams' health is much improved.

The Eugene Journal advises saloon keepers of that place of the penalty they are likely to incur by selling spirits to minors.

George P. Holman, agent of the Salem oil mills, is offering to contract for the next crop of flax seed at $1 70 per bushel.

The new manager of the Democratic organ at Salem is spoken of by a contemporary as "Bill Watkinds of State Prison notoriety." Fame!

Philomath College, Benton county, under the efficient management of President J. A. Biddle and wife, lately from the East, is rapidly increasing in popular favor.

According to census tables just published the number of male citizens in Oregon over 21 years of age in 1870 was 24,626. The vote for Congressman the same year was 22,333.

Lane county has paid up her arrears of taxes which she has been refusing to pay for some years. Greenbacks were tendered for them as long ago as 1863. The State got judgment for coin, and the county is not able to discover what it has made by the operation.

Senator Corbett has introduced a resolution in the Senate to instruct the Secretary of the Treasury, in closing the accounts of W. L. Adams, late Collector of Customs, to give the said Adams credit for $12,180, which was the amount not recovered from the robbers who took $20,000 from Mr. Adams while he was on his way to deposit it at San Francisco under orders from the Department.

W. C. Myer, of Jackson county, writes from St. Louis that he will soon return to Oregon with a fine imported Percheron stallion and mare, four thoroughbred Durham cattle, four Alderney cows, (the best breed for milk and butter of the cow kind), five pure-blooded Cotswold sheep, three white Bramah fowls, a pair of genuine Scotch terriers and a brace of pure bred Maltese cats. This gentleman has heretofore brought much fine stock into Oregon.

The plans for the new court house at Salem have been finished by Messrs. Burton & Piper of Portland. The building will have a front of seventy-nine feet, including all projections, with a rear of eighty-one feet; the entire length will be ninety-nine feet, including all projections. The basement will be twelve feet high in the clear; the first story above the basement, sixteen feet high, and the third story twenty-two feet high. All walls in this building will be of the best of hard and well burned brick. The foundation of the entire building will be of cut stone laid in the best of cement and in the best manner possible.

THE TERRITORIES.

A political temperance convention is called to meet at Olympia on the second Wednesday in February.

A great effort is making to get the terminus located right in the town of Olympia. The exact point that will be selected on the bay is not unknown.

There entered at the Custom House in Puget Sound District, during the year ending December 31st, 1871, 224 American vessels, tonnage 106,464 tons, and 74 foreign vessels, tonnage 26,068 tons, making the total number of vessels entered for the year 298, and 132,432 tons. This does not include the vessels in the coasting trade, under license. The value of exports (foreign) was $469,205.

The Kalama Beacon, organ of the N. P. R. R. Co., says that the site on which that place is founded was selected by engineering science as the best point on the lower Columbia where a bridge could be built. A site opposite the two islands that lie in front of Kalama was accordingly chosen. It says that the statement of the Secretary of the Interior that the road is to cross at Kalama and come to Portland verifies this.

It is reported at Olympia that the management of the N. P. R. R. intend obtaining from Congress an extension of the time in which they are required to complete the road between the Columbia river and its final terminus on Puget Sound. It is said that they desire, after connecting their road with Budd's Inlet, to use steamboat navigation on the Sound for the present, and to be relieved from building for the next five or ten years the forty miles each year, on this route, as is required by the Joint Resolution passed about a couple of years ago.

Secretary Boutwell on Finance.

A Philadelphia dispatch of the 6th gives this:

This morning President Grant, in company with Secretary Boutwell, visited the Commercial Exchange. The Secretary made an address, in which he said he felt that no nation could be independent or powerful, in proportion to its intellectual and physical capacity, unless it places its public credit in the foremost position of the nations of the world. The first $100,000,000 of the public debt, or nearly that, which has been paid within the last three years has been just so many dollars transferred from the public surety in which they were locked to the channels of business, and has become a great means of developing the resources of the entire country. While it is not necessary to continue to the same extent the liquidation of the public debt, I believe we shall be false to the good faith that has been pledged to the public creditors, should by Executive ... the public debt a year, until that debt is so much reduced that, in an exigency, which may come upon any nation, at any moment, we shall be called upon to ask the country or world for a loan of one hundred thousand or five hundred thousand, or a thousand thousand millions of dollars, that the capital of the world will leap from the vaults of its owners into the Treasury of the United States. While I would look into writings of learned men for their ideas, and for experience which other nations and other generations have had, I still believe that the best security in regard to ideas of policy and power is to be found in the examination of existing facts, and trust in the judgment of living men. [Applause.]

After Boutwell's speech, a reporter had a conversation with the Secretary regarding the $600,000,000 now being agitated. The proposition to take this amount has been made by the Rothschilds and American bankers in London, and is favorably received by Secretary Boutwell. The only impediment that operates against the immediate consummation of the terms proposed, is the present lack of power of the Secretary to make interest payable abroad, as recommended in the Secretary's last report. A portion of the loan of the "new fives," as it will be known, has been bid for by three parties, the interest payable in America. These propositions will be noted on so soon as the Secretary returns to Washington. If the interest can be paid abroad, as proposed, there will be no difficulty in refunding $600,000,000 of our present 6 per cent loan into bonds, averaging 4½ and 5 per cent. interest, or 4¾ in the aggregate, thus saving, as the projectors claim, $7,500,000 per annum on this $600,000,000.

STARTLING TRAGEDY IN NEW YORK.

MURDER OF JAMES FISK, JR.

A leading item of news received by steamer is an account of the murder of the noted and notorious James Fisk, Jr., by Edward Stokes. This tragedy took place at the Grand Central Hotel in New York city on the afternoon of the 6th inst. Stokes is one of the companions and admirers of the woman Mansfield, between whom and Fisk there were also relations of scandalous intimacy, which some months ago were broken off. The difficulty between Fisk and the woman Mansfield was finally carried to the courts. It has often been alluded to in our telegraphic dispatches. Stokes has been her champion in the affair, and this murder is simply a tragic end to the noted Fisk-Mansfield scandal. Following are the circumstances of the murder:

About 4 o'clock, P. M., on the 6th inst., Fisk's carriage, containing Fisk himself and a companion, drove up to the Grand Central Hotel. Fisk alighted and entered the hotel for the purpose of proceeding to his rooms. As he ascended the first step, Stokes came out of an adjoining passage way, unperceived by Fisk, substituted his coat, drew out a revolver and rapidly discharged three shots at Fisk. The first lodged in Fisk's shoulder; the second whistled close by his head; the third, with a more fatal direction, took effect in his abdomen, inflicting a mortal wound.

Fisk at once staggered and fell, while Stokes cast a look of hatred on the prostrate form of his victim, and said, in savage tones: "I have done for the son of a b— this time." Fisk evidently recognized his assailant before falling, but made no remark. Immediately after the shots were fired the hotel employees rushed to the rescue, while some cared for the wounded man, others seized Stokes, who, seeing escape was impossible, made no resistance, and was promptly handed over to police. Fisk was quickly conveyed to his room, and the surgeon of the hotel was soon in attendance upon him.

The wound in the abdomen was very similar to that which caused the death of Vallandigham. Fisk, after being removed to his room, became calm and recited the circumstances of the assault. His lawyer, David Dudley Field, was called, and Fisk dictated his will. In about three hours afterward, Fisk arrived, and the scene was a very moving one. The surgeons assured her that there was no hope. Fisk was in great distress, deserted by his coolness and fortitude. He died about 11 o'clock on the morning of the 7th, or about nineteen hours after receiving his wounds.

In his will he gave to his sister, Mrs. Hooker, $100,000 in Narragansett steamship shares; to his father and mother $3,000 a year each during life; to each of the Misses Morse $2,000, and to the Ninth Regiment New York Militia (of which he was Colonel) $11,000. All the residue of his property, amounting to a great but unknown sum, he bequeathed to his wife.

The press universally denounce the act of Stokes in accomplishing his murder, which he anticipated on the gallows. The World says that in the act may be seen, in its most accurate type, the worst spirit of those marital murders which disgrace our professions to civilization; and whatever means its results, this wretched business may have, it will have beneficent results if it enables men who cannot see that murder is murder, when perpetrated under the specious plea of upholding the essence of marriage, to appreciate the same crime when perpetrated with the view of consecrating concubinage.

Immense crowds rushed to the Grand Hotel to see the corpse. The remains were removed to the Opera House, where they remained in state and were visited by 50,000 people. The funeral took place on the 8th. Not less than 150,000 persons crowded the streets on the occasion. The procession was over a mile long.

Stokes, the murderer, was committed to the Tombs. The Ninth Regiment was very much excited and uttered threats of taking him and lynching him.

Jay Gould, Fisk's partner in Erie, was greatly affected by the event. He visited Fisk while he was dying and gave vent to his grief in tears.

The remains have been taken to Brattleboro, Vermont, for burial. Here was Fisk's birth place, and here his aged parents still reside.

State Indemnity Lands.

Many persons in Oregon will be interested in the following correspondence, which furnishes another proof of Senator Corbett's untiring exertions in behalf of the interests of this State:

UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22, 1871.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR: About six months since my attention was called by Mr. Risdon of Lane county, to the importance of having approved the indemnity lands selected by the State, in lieu of the 16th and 36th sections, that in many places had been settled upon. Many of those who have become purchasers of these alien lands, and have made valuable improvements, have been quite uneasy in consequence of these lands not having been approved. I am pleased now to inform you that the Commissioner has used every effort, since I brought the matter to his attention, to have prompt action, and I now enclose the letter informing me of the approval of list No. 1, embracing 41,280 acres.

The Department is hard at work upon the other list, which I have good reason to believe will soon be completed, which will set at rest these titles. Very respectfully yours,

H. W. CORBETT.

DEPT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22, 1871.

HON. HENRY W. CORBETT, U. S. SENATE—

SIR: Agreeable to your request I have the honor to inform you that list No. 1, of indemnity school sections by the State of Oregon, embracing tracts of an aggregate area of 41,280 72-100ths acres, was approved by the Secretary of the Interior on the 21st inst.

Very respectfully,
WILLIS DRUMMOND,
Commissioner.

Mr. Colfax and the Vice Presidency.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, which is an admirer of Mr. Colfax but not of Gen. Grant, contains this article:

We have always supposed, in spite of Mr. Colfax's oft-expressed desire and purpose not to occupy his present office another four years, that, if the Republican Convention renominated Gen. Grant, it would also renominate him, and under such circumstances as would practically oblige him to accept. Gen. Grant's friends already see that they carry the Convention more surely on the whole of the old ticket than on a part of it, and we predict that they will go to the Convention insisting that there be no change in the second office any more than in the first. They have lately brought this contingency home to Mr. Colfax himself, and, according to the New York Times, he has made the only reply possible under the circumstances, namely—that it would bring with it considerations to which he should give all proper weight when it arrived, and that it would be a hard, perhaps an ungrateful, thing to throw back a nomination thus tendered; but that he could not and would not say anything now to authorize his friends to present his name for renomination or in any way to excuse them in labor to bring it about. Mr. Colfax is certainly doing enough, both by word and action, to favor the renomination of General Grant without calling on his friends to labor for that end with a view to his own re-election to his present office.

Fatal Accident from a Blast.

OAKLAND, Jan. 14.—A fatal accident from a blast occurred to-day on the railroad grade eight miles north of this place. A rock, weighing one hundred pounds, was thrown by a blast over three hundred feet, crushing through the roof of George Smith's dwelling house. It struck Thos. Morrissey on the head, killing him instantly. Mr. Morrissey was up stairs at the time. He leaves a wife and children.

NEWS CONDENSATIONS.

Fisk was only 37.

The woman, Mansfield, once lived in San Francisco.

San Francisco exported $8,450,000 worth of goods in 1871 more than she exported in 1870.

Mrs. Morse, the lady whom Fisk called at the hotel to see when he was shot, was his mother-in-law.

The ex-Emperor Napoleon is reported to have said on New Year's Day: "I will give Thiers six months' Presidency of the Free Republic, and at the end of that time Gambetta will be in his place and the change will be favorable to the Imperial cause."

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decides that when a party carries on the wholesale and retail liquor business on the same premises he may not set aside certain goods kept for wholesale, but may retail, but that he cannot wholesale from the same packages.

Eight hundred San Francisco passengers have arrived at Chicago. Some of them were English, who were making the trip in opposition to the line of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship line and they are intensely disgusted at the delays on the Union Pacific.

The Times, Washington's valet says General Babcock of the President's staff has written a letter to the Retrenchment Committee asking that they make the most rigid investigation into the charges made against him of participating in the profits of the New York Custom House. He takes the liberty to suggest that the witnesses be examined exclusively by the Democratic members of the Committee.

Matters in Congress.

The following proceedings have been had in Congress since the meeting of that body after the holidays:

Mr. Corbett brought forward a measure which he believes is calculated to hasten the return to specie payments, requiring the National Banks to have fifteen per cent. of their reserves in gold coin on the first of July and increase the proportion three per cent. semi-annually thereafter.

Senator Casserly introduced a bill to expedite the survey of private land claims, and for other purposes, being a revival of the bill reported last year by Senator Williams with several changes in the nature of amendments, designed more especially to guard the rights of settlers by compelling a more speedy determination of all questions of survey.

Mr. Slater introduced a bill extending the time two years for the selection of swamp lands by the State of Oregon.

Mr Slater introduced a bill for the survey of Port Orford, and for clearing of obstructions from the Wallamet and Columbia.

Mr. Morgan introduced a joint resolution to amend the Constitution, making naturalized citizens eligible for the Presidency. It was rejected by 31 to 65—less than two-thirds in the affirmative.

CHEAP, BUT HONEST.

Many years ago, when Robert M. Charlton, of Savannah, Georgia was quite a young man, he in company with his father, the Hon. U. F. Chapman spent every summer in the delightful village of Clarksville, Northern Georgia.

One day Robert was passing along the street in Clarksville, and it happened to be election day—members of Congress were then elected by what is called the general ticket system and not by districts as they are now—when he was met by a verdant but honest countryman from the mountains, who accosted him thus:

Mr Charlton, are you the man that is running for Congress?

No, sir, I am no candidate—my father is however. But may I ask you why this inquiry?

Nothing, only I haven't voted yet.

If it is consistent with your feelings, then, I would like to have you vote for my father.

I would just as soon vote for him as anybody.

Mr. Charlton thanked him, and thinking, perhaps, his friend was seeking a treat, invited him into a tavern.

What will you take?

I never drink anything, but I see they have ginger cakes and as I'd like one of them with you as not.

Very well. Give us a cake and cider.

My brother is in town with me, sir.

All right; take him a cake with my respects.

Another cake was purchased and paid for, and the two friends passed "Gro..." to the bar, and Mr. Charlton to join in the merry dance, with young friends in a parlor (Ladly).

The golden hours on angel's wings flew rapidly away with Mr. Charlton. His friend was soon forgotten. Late in the evening there was a pause in the dance, our verdant friend very much to the surprise of every one, stalked into the parlor, and inquired for Mr. Charlton.

Of course all eyes were turned to our friend, as he approached Mr. Charlton. Drawing from his bosom a four by six cake, he said:

Mr. Charlton, here's your cake. My brother voted afore I seed him.

Civil Service Investigation.

It is asserted by the Herald that the resolution recently adopted in the United States Senate to investigate alleged abuses in the civil service, is drawn up in such a form as to defeat the proposed investigation. That paper alleges that real investigation is feared and shirked. Trumbull's resolution, it says, was not adopted, but on the contrary, a resolution much less thorough in its character was substituted for it, and the whole thing so managed as to shield the corruptions of the Administration. "Now we need not multiply words about this. We have only to cite the Herald to the official record. Here is the resolution, as adopted. We take it from the Globe:

Resolved, That the Committee of Investigation and retrenchment be instructed to inquire into the expenditures in all branches of the service of the United States, and report whether any or what offices ought to be abolished; whether any or what salaries ought to be reduced; what are the methods of preparing accountability in public officers or agents in the care and disbursement of public moneys; whether moneys have been paid out illegally; whether any officers or agents or other persons have been or are employed in the public service without authority of law or unnecessarily, and to what extent the expenses of the service of the country may and ought to be curtailed.

This resolution is of a thorough and searching character. It covers all the ground. Under it there will be an investigation which will lay bare all abuses that exist, and which will necessarily do much to establish civil service reform. The Herald says:

Mr. Trumbull offered an amendment to empower the committee to send for persons and papers, and instructing them to investigate certain alleged abuses. The amendment was voted down.

Here again the Herald is singularly at fault. The amendment to empower the committee to send for persons and papers was made on the 19th December. The official proceedings show that the first objection to this amendment came from the Democratic side. And what is more, it came from Senator Kelly of Oregon! He thought it an unusual and unnecessary thing to invest in advance a committee with great powers. The amendment, however, was carried, and the committee was instructed to send for persons and papers. The Herald has a way of being strangely in error as to all leading facts.

As to the course of the President in the matter of civil service reform and investigation of such abuses as exist, we may quote from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, a paper which is avowedly his opponent and which has daily for months argued against his renomination. That paper says that his recent special message to Congress on the subject of the civil service "restores him to public confidence in that matter, and makes him the historical leader, the inaugurator of Civil Service Reform. The work is not to wait on Congressional action—he launches the reform full-fledged through his own power over the others at the beginning of the new year,—and only suggests that Congress may add more permanence to the new policy by formal legislation."

If the Herald intends to continue this subject, it would do its patrons a service by carefully reading it up before it essays another article.

The Death of Fisk.

It is not fit that a person who has led the career which has made James Fisk notorious throughout the world should pass away with his character and acts unnoticed. It is not fit that he should be allowed to pass away from the memory of men without first serving the purpose of giving an impressive lesson and pointing a moral. The San Francisco Call has an impressive article on the man and his career, which we transfer to our columns:

The close of a career so notorious as that of James Fisk, Jr., of New York, ending as it did, will not fail to leave its lesson in the popular mind. Few men have so conspicuously scandalized the nation; few lives have crowded within a brief period achievements that brought so much discredit upon the business character of his countrymen. It would be a great mistake to consider him a type of American financiers; his whole course has been an exception—a lusus naturæ, if we may so speak, which finds in himself its sole exemplar. The end of such a life could scarcely fail to be in keeping with the record it had established. In death, as in life, he is the sensation of the country, he winds up a history of almost unparalleled notoriety in a way as unexpected as were the exploits by which he achieved his great celebrity. He has blazed before the nation like an erratic comet, plunging from obscurity to fill a space in the American horizon with lurid brilliancy, as suddenly to disappear from the sight of men, leaving but little perceptible effect upon the great system in the midst of which he shone in his career. There can be but one sentiment in regard to his murder—that it was brutal, cowardly, and should be punished with the sternest retribution of the law. That his course may be a warning to Americans for the future we fain will hope. The country needs no more such men. But all should profit by the lessons of his life; if the result shall be a more elevated standard of private morality, and a more exalted regard for commercial honor and honesty, he will not have lived in vain. The events which primarily were the immediate cause for his untimely death had better be left to slumber in charitable silence.

An Answer to Mr. Sumner.

The Boston Advertiser, which represents in a large degree the brains and wealth of Mr. Sumner's constituency, handles his resolution [illegible] following. It would be difficult to put more argument into the same space:

Yet the Constitution was adopted, with the possibility of all those calamities hanging over it; and we had at once Washington President for eight years, Jefferson eight years, Madison eight years, Monroe eight years, Jackson eight years, John Adams and John Quincy Adams alone interposing for a single term each; and nobody now believes that the Republic would have received any detriment if circumstances had favored their re-election. There has been but one time since when the country had any desire to re-elect a President for a second term, and that time he was chosen. The hand of an assassin alone robbed the country of the benefit of his tried patriotism and heroic virtues. Van Buren was not his welcome in his first and only term. Harrison, as we have said, died in office. Polk, of course, could not survive the Mexican war. Taylor died in office. Pierce and Buchanan went out with the tide which was never to return again. Experience, to be sure, throws little light on the merits of this question; but that little is in favor of leaving to the people entire freedom of choice among the servants of the public who have earned its confidence.

The Changing Center of Population.

Washington advices report that Prof. Hilgard of the Coast Survey has made some interesting calculations from the last and previous census, which show the steady westward movement of the center of the population of the United States. Prof. Hilgard uses the phrase "center of gravity of the population," which, imagining the country to be a plane loaded with inhabitants, distributed over it in the manner shown by the census, would be the point upon which the plane would balance. He shows that,—

In 1840 this point was near the eastern foot of the Cumberland Mountains, in Virginia, upon the 30th parallel of latitude. In 1850 the census showed that the point had moved westward 57 miles, to a point south of Parkersburg, Va. In 1860 it was 83 miles further west at a place south of Chillicothe, Ohio, not far from the line between Virginia and Kentucky. In 1870 the point was found to have moved 45 miles further west, and is now at Wilmington, Clinton county, Ohio. The great progress of the period between 1850 and 1860 was caused, in part, by the rapid settlement of Texas and the Pacific coast. The Professor thinks that the relative growth of the West will not be so great in the future as in the past, and that, therefore, the center of population will advance westward at a much slower rate than heretofore. He estimates that in the year 1900 the center will be found to be near Bloomington, Ind., about 40 miles southwest of Indianapolis.

The State Board of Education of Missouri report enormous swamp land swindles in that State. The whole process by which these swindles have been perpetrated is set forth by the St. Louis Democrat. That process differs in its details from the one attempted in Oregon, but the tendency in both cases is to the same general result.

THE UPPER WATERS OF THE WALLAMET.

McKENZIE'S FORK OF WALLAMET,
Jan. 10, 1872.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR: Many of the residents of Lane and Linn counties are familiar with the general features of this valley, and appreciate its resources, its fertile soil and salubrious climate; but which still remains, to a great extent, unimproved. This may be owing in part to the fact, that until recently, those who were seeking lands for settlement, have preferred those less timbered than these; but, still more to the fact, that these lands for the most part have lain unsurveyed until within the last year; a delay which may have been caused by a neglect of the few settlers here to properly present their wants to our late Surveyor-General. Since the survey, however, there has been a gratifying increase in the number of our actual settlers. The McKenzie takes its rise in the eastern portion of the above counties, and, with its tributaries, drains a large extent of the western watershed of the Cascade range, which accounts for its heavy volume of water even in the dryest seasons. Its chief tributaries, taken in their order eastward from its confluence with the waters of the middle and coast forks are, Mohawk creek, Camp creek, Gate creek, Quartz creek, Blue river, South fork, Horse creek and Lost creek. The first three and the fifth of these enter it from from the north and the others from the south. The river proper rises in Linn county, but more than 60 miles of its lower course lies in Lane, which course varies little from a west direction throughout. Like most mountain streams its current is rapid, but it is regular, and is unbroken by falls in the entire distance given above. This fact gives assurance of its value in utilizing the vast forests of fine timber convenient to its course, and which embraces fir, cedar, oak, and sugar, and other varieties of pine timber. Many fine farms border on its lower portion, and though the valley becomes gradually more timbered after the first fifteen miles eastward, yet this is not considered by the settlers of lands as a serious detriment to its value. They are generally men who know the worth of good houses and how to make them; and their experience proves this timbered land when once brought into cultivation to be of double the value of prairie lands for most kinds of crops. Beside this, the timber will soon become of sufficient value to repay its removal and it may even become a prize worthy of preservation at no distant day. Already quite a brisk business is here carried on in shingle making at paying rates. Passing eastward many choice locations are seen still unclaimed, the valley, for the most part, being wide enough for a tier of farms on each side of the river to a distance of 35 miles from the forks. Above this point for some miles the valley is narrow, in several places only wide enough for a comfortable roadway. It is here that the river is found, though in a minature form, which is almost universally found on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade range. Here though quite narrow, it is remarkable, and the discoveries made on the western branches of Blue river indicate the existence of valuable deposits of both gold and silver. The discovery of precious metals on branches of the Calipooia and Santiam to the north, and at Bohemia to the south, go still farther to prove the regularity of the system in this portion of the Cascades. Iron is the metal most plainly presented at the river and along the road. The favorable nature of the discoveries on Blue river entitle the subject to more than a passing notice, but not being able to speak of them from personal knowledge I prefer to await further developments by the holders of the different lodes. To the eastward the valley again widens and at the crossing of Blue river and opposite to its mouth are found desirable lands for settlement. Here the scenery of the surrounding hills becomes of an attractive and pleasing character, and heightens in interest as advance is made up the valley. Small prairies are of frequent occurrence, and here and there a marsh, where the industrious beaver has prepared a place for the pioneer. At the estimated distance of 55 miles from Eugene City, Craig's bridge spans the river, and the road which for 40 miles has followed the north side, here crosses to the south. This structure has been renewed the present winter, stands eight feet above the highest known water mark and its four principal timbers are 146 feet in length, 10x24 inches. When completed it will be very creditable to the worthy pioneer by whose exertions chiefly it is built and whose name it bears. Here the largest prairie in the upper part of the valley, and named Strawberry is passed. Six miles further brings the traveler to the chief object of interest in this locality namely,

THE MINERAL SPRINGS.

Their first discovery by white men is said [illegible] mountains to the head of this valley under the guidance of friendly Indians. Impressed with a belief in the great curative properties of the waters, it is said this gentleman got through the Legislature (of which he was a member) a franchise, the conditions of which were of the most liberal character; and made an effort to organize a company to build a road to the springs; but the enterprise failing to receive the needed encouragement, it was finally abandoned. For several years following they seem to have attracted little attention except from hunters, who made easy prey of the elk and deer which daily came in great numbers to drink of the waters, and the number thus slaughtered—not only for the greater part, is estimated by hundreds. It is true the springs were located and re-located, but the holders seem to have belonged to that generous and too common class who are willing to allow some one else to make them rich. Three or four years ago, however, a more practical humanitarian, with his axe hewed out a rude trough, which very well answered the purpose of a bathing vat. Since that time the place has been visited by many, some for health and others for curiosity. The ablutions were taken in the open air and under other unfavorable conditions, yet many claimed that one or two applications of the water or of steaming over the springs had relieved them of aches and pains of months standing. Their location is on the right hand side of the river at the southern base of a giant hill whose majestic presence as approached from the opposite side challenges attention. From the seamed surface of the inclined rock pours the boiling liquid in a score of different springs, scattered over a surface of as many square yards; each spring adding to the column of steam which at night ascends to the height of the surrounding trees. To the taste, the water is sweetish and not unpleasant, but the odor of the steam suggests our proximity to regions that we are willing Dante should visit for us. Near the water the rocks are encrusted with soda and salt in about equal quantities and many other chemicals are no doubt to be found in the waters; but what they are, and what causes the heat, and what the geological formation in which such springs occur are questions of which science must be the solvent. It is not predicted for these springs, that they will eclipse the German Seltzer, or Saratoga, the Magnetic of Michigan, or the great springs of Tennessee, Arkansas or other parts of the globe. Great gifts of this character are not sown broadcast. Yet it may be doubted whether any of these on their first trial gave more hopeful evidence of power over human ills than those of the McKenzie.

But little more than a year ago, wagons could not be brought within 30 miles of these springs, and the task of reopening an old road and the making of many miles of new, was undertaken and successfully carried out by four persons, who sought to make themselves houses in the upper part of this valley. As may well be imagined the season was far advanced before the last log was rolled, and when, at length, the springs were reached by wagons, and, the faithful little band of invalids who had patiently watched, waited, and cheered the advancing workmen, were landed, meager indeed were the "hospitalities" that greeted them. The old trough did its duty, and did the bathers good; but bathing, to be effectual must be done correctly; and next season invalids may expect to find preparations made for their comfort and convenience while visiting the springs.

FURTHER UP THE STREAM

some years ago a party of men explored the valley northwest of this point and reported the discovery of a series of falls, three in number and estimated the hight of the lower one 40 feet, the second 60, and the upper one 300 feet. Beyond this was a lake in the transparent depths of which a forest of timber was visible. Whether this was a fancy or a reality may be doubted, but their manner of accounting for it was far from unreasonable. A sudden volcanic eruption seemed to have filled the valley from hill to hill with lava or the debris of a crumbling mountain, thus creating the lake, and the falls, and of course submerging a section of the valley above. The surrounding scenery was reported as being grand beyond description. Should their statements be found true, it is the intention to open a trail by which horsemen can visit this panorama of wonders the coming summer. The easy access to the summit of the Cascade range, and thence to the Deschutes river, from this part of the McKenzie valley is worthy of remark; and is owing in a great degree to the combined agencies of water and fire. Lost creek, which rises in the several snows above the base of the "Three Sisters" is quite a large stream, and flows west by north to its junction with the river a mile below the mineral springs. Its channel was evidently at one time a deep and dismal mountain gorge, with steep and in some places precipitous walls. This was subsequently filled for many miles by an influx of lava which hides the waters from view, but in sufficiently copious to admit of their passage through its mass, and hence the name "Lost creek."

The source of the lava is traceable upon the corrugated sides and castellated crest of the most northerly "Sister," and proves it to have been once in the past an active volcano. Over the somewhat rolling but generally smoothed surface of this lava-bed, late explorations have been made, proving the existence of a feasible passage to what are known as the summit praries and in which are found the summit lakes, and here, from the balcony of her gorgeous amphitheater, may the devoted student of nature, contemplate the arena of her once contending and most potent forces, the aqueous and the igneous. But whose art could have portrayed in minutiæ the awful scene? In vain does the eager pencil, pen or tongue seek to transfer the many-tinted conceptions which may only find reality in the chambers of the soul. To the southward gaze of the now enraptured devotee a beautiful scene is presented, gracefully undulating like the waving of a bridal veil, and vieing with the whiteness of the zone above, are the waters of Lost creek, as it were joyously leaping to their fellers, and to his eager ear is interpreted a fragment of their everlasting song:

Though we in moping comfort be
We ever work in harmony
Though each our various stations fill
Each answer He almighty will.

Indulgent fact seeker! pardon my digressions. On the line of the explorations mentioned, a road has been projected and a stock trail opened.

The chief obstacles to the passage of wagons have also been removed for several miles and the work will hereafter be steadily prosecuted. To any person familiar with the heavy grades and steep pitches found on the leading roads between California and Novada, the obstacles here presented to the construction of a road seem of comparative insignificance. This road once opened, a brighter day will dawn upon the settlers of this valley. With a fair market at their doors for their surplus products they will cease to feel as in the past the inconveniences of their isolated location. And these benefits will be mutual, for travelers prefer roads upon which food and forage can be had in plenty and at convenient distances, thus adding to their comfort and enabling them to preserve intact their full freighting capacity.

And now, when I shall have added a list of our wants, I will close. We of the McKenzie want people; actual settlers; so that in time we may have churches, schools and social gatherings. We prefer men and women who appreciate homes of their own and are willing, if necessary, to bear with a few inconveniences while making them. B.

GOLD IN VERMONT.—There is some stir in Windsor county, Vermont, on the subject of gold mining, occasioned, as the Burlington Free Press explains, by the following circumstances:

An island has been formed at one point in the bed of White River, by the yearly wash of mud brought down from the hillsides for miles by the rapid stream. It is of about fifteen acres, and has for years been cultivated and used as pasture, with good profit to its owners. It formed once part of the property [illegible] the Chubran gold regions, got his eye on the island, and, having made what investigations he desired, leased it of the present owner for a small sum, $50 for the first year, and $100 a year thereafter, with some privileges and additions, as we are informed. Before long it was noised abroad that Mr. Saltry was finding gold in paying proportions on the island, and he was not long without plenty of offers for rights to dig, the owner of the land himself paying $500 for one. Mr. Saltry does not intend to dig himself, but to let out the whole territory in small tracts; and probably as soon as spring comes, the island will be all worked over. The soil is black sand, in which grains of gold of more or less fineness can be seen with the eye. A quantity of gold washed out by Mr. Saltry and sent to New York for assay, gave the value of the ore at $1,980 to the ton.

THE SWAMP LAND SWINDLE.—We learn from Mr. W. J. Small, who lives in the Link River Valley, that all the land on Link river, which could possibly be called swamp or overflowed has been occupied by actual settlers for years, and that the fact of its being partially overflowed at a certain time of the year is all that makes it valuable for farming or grazing purposes. We can conceive of no greater outrage on citizens than to attempt to deprive them of their homes on a pretext so barefaced as this swamp land swindle. To claim that lands which are now valuable for both farming and grazing purposes—but which if drained would be rendered valuable—should be placed in the hands of speculators for almost nothing, on the plea that they will be at the expense of draining them, is simply absurd, and is nothing but an attempt to rob working men to enrich a few speculators and land grabbers.—Eugene Journal.

CURIOUS ANTIPATHIES.—The subject of sympathies and antipathies is extremely curious. Boyle fainted when he heard the splashing of water. Scaliger turned pale at the sight of watercresses; Erasmus became feverish when he saw a fish. A curious story is told of a clergyman, that he always fainted when he heard a certain verse in Jeremiah read. Zimmerman tells us of a lady who could not endure the feeling of silk or satin, and shudders when touching the velvety skin of a peach. Mr. Julian Young tells the story of an officer who could not endure the sound of a drum, and ultimately fell dead when compelled to hear it. There are whole families who entertain a horror of cheese; on the other hand, there was a physician, Dr. Starke, of Edinburgh, who lost his life by subsisting almost entirely upon it. Some people have been unable to take mutton, even when administered in the microscopic form of pills. There is the case of a man falling down at the smell of mutton, as if bereaved of life, and in strong convulsions. Sir James Eyre, in his well known little book, mentions three curious instances of idiosyncrasy: the case of a gentleman who could not eat a single strawberry with impunity; the case of another, whose head would become frightfully swollen if he touched the smallest particle of hare; the case of a third, who would inevitably have an attack of gout a few hours after eating fish. —London Society.

SEA SICKNESS CURABLE.—An authority on this subject says: "I am much surprised at the opinion which is so prevalent of the utter incurability of sea-sickness. I believe the opinion to exist among the non-medical part of the community from sheer ignorance, and among sea-going surgeons from a supineness in applying remedies—a fault to which they are rather too subject. In the greater number of instances I allow the stomach to discharge its contents once or twice, and then, if there is no organic disease, I give him five drops of chloroform in a little water, and if necessary, repeat the dose in every five or six hours. The almost instant effect of this treatment, if coupled with a few simple precautions, is to cause an immediate sensation, as it were, of warmth in the stomach, accompanied by almost total relief of the nausea and sickness, likewise curing the distressing headache, and usually causing a quiet sleep, from which the passenger awakes quite well.

The word "bloody" has nothing in itself which can be supposed improper, but it was a favorite epithet of censure in the mouths of a very low class in London, and therefore the reporters, when recording the utterances of that class, had the habit of "gutting" it. And as use is second nature, it came to pass one day that a grand sentence of Sir Robert Peel's appeared in the Times after this ludicrous fashion: "Then the genius of anarchy arose, and waving her b y hand," etc., etc. Walter, the editor, summoned the delinquent in haste and wrath, and distributed to him with much energy sundry fragments of the butt end of his mind: "But, sir," pleaded the delinquent, "it's a coarse word, you know." "Yes," growled the proprietor, "it is coarse. If I were to call you a bloody fool it would be coarse, but it would be true."

The editor of Harper's Weekly puts a great deal in a few words, as follows:

A party which, while defending and extending human slavery, called itself Democratic, and while actively in one part of the country, and passively in the other, trying to overthrow the Government, called itself Conservative, may also, when foiled in the attempt to destroy the Constitution, solemnly call itself Constitutional. The motley host called the Democratic party is quite as constitutional as it is democratic, and as conservative as it is constitutional.

Some young Texan hunters, feeling cold, built a fire in the woods. About the time it got well under way, they had reason to believe that the fire had been made over their powder flasks, for the only one who was not hurt by the explosion counted the others as they came down.

The Statesman wants to know if Salem is to have a public library. It wants some public spirited citizens to take the lead.

Failure of many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco to cure a case of Rheumatism.—Triumph of the Unk Weed Remedy.

SAN JOSE, August 22, 1871.

DR. A. M. LOWER & CO.: This is to certify that I, the undersigned, have been sick for five years with Rheumatism, and have been treated for many ailments. My trouble has been weakness of the back and side, and wandering pains all over my body. I have been treated by many of the most eminent physicians of San Francisco, as well as of this city, but without any effect. At last I was induced to try your UNK WEED REMEDY, and the result was that after taking the contents of two bottles I found myself perfectly cured. I am afflicted with Rheumatism, I say TRY THE UNK WEED REMEDY, and you will be cured. Yours truly,

JAMES AHERN, San Jose.

CITY.

THE FUNERAL OF CAPT. WM. KELLY.—As was expected, the remains of Capt. Wm. Kelly arrived on the Oriflamme. The body was received by the delegation of the Hibernian Benevolent Society appointed for that purpose, and conveyed to the Washington Guard Armory where it lay in state during Saturday. The coffin was appropriately draped with the National flag, the green scarf of the Hibernian Society and the emblems of the Orders of which the deceased had been a member. A Guard of Honor, consisting of a detail of non-commissioned officers and men from the Washington Guard and the Emmet Guard, was stationed in the armory and a delegation of two members from the Hibernian Society kept watch near the coffin. The friends of the deceased and many strangers visited the place during the day. The body had been placed in a metallic coffin with plate glass over the face, so that the features of the deceased were visible, and such care had been used in the preparations, as to preserve the remains in apparently the same condition as when placed in the coffin. In the evening, Brig. Gen. Bolt and staff of the Oregon militia, visited the armory in uniform. It had been the intention to turn out the military companies of this city yesterday morning, to accompany the remains to Vancouver, but at the request of the relatives of the deceased, the order for this purpose was countermanded. The Hibernian Society, however, sent a delegation of members who took the body to the steamer yesterday morning and went with it in charge to Vancouver. The steamer landed, on account of the ice blockade, about two miles and a half below Vancouver, and as had been arranged at the latter place, the remains were met at Hayden's Point where the procession was formed in the following order: The band, a military escort, civic societies, hearse, and pall bearers, family, military details, officers, citizens, and mounted citizens. On the march, at the church and at the cemetery, the usual military evolutions and honors were observed. The procession was the longest ever seen at Vancouver, all the military, except the guards, and the residents of the town, turning out almost en masse. The body was taken to the Episcopal Church where the last religious rites were celebrated, and, thence through the garrison to the beautiful cemetery attached to the post, where the burial took place under charge, and according to the forms of the Masonic Order, the military having first given the usual honors.

NIPPED IN THE BUD.—The Vancouver Register relates how a youthful couple ran away from Webfoot, all because cruel parents refused to let them be happy, and arriving at Gretna Green essayed to merge their two lives in one in the manner and form provided by law; how all things being in readiness—the license obtained, the venerable magistrate present with form-book in hand, the two poor little things standing up with hands clasped, and their two little hearts beating as one—a cruel message came, directed to whom it may concern, to stay proceedings, on account of the child being a young thing—too young to leave her mamma; how the proceedings were accordingly stayed; how the little girl was subsequently taken by a great awful man and sent back to her anxious relatives right side up with care; how the poor thing wept vexed tears and bewailed the lack of dispatch which enabled that telegraphic dispatch to come between her and the glory of wifehood. The girl, though, declares she will do it yet, if it takes all summer. And we rather think she will.

CROSS ACTIONS.—A certain man and wife of this city have got very decidedly at cross purposes, and are now fighting in cross suits in our courts. John Curran keeps a boarding house on First street. The other day there was some unpleasantness between John and his wife Sarah; and the former had the latter arrested upon a charge of assault and battery. Sarah in return had John arrested on a charge of insanity. To-day, John's case will be inquired into before the County Judge, and Sarah will have a hearing before Justice Crich. Sarah don't admit that she assaulted and battered her husband, and John denies the soft impeachment of insanity. As it stands it is a very pretty fight, but it is impossible for finite wisdom to forecast the result.

PASSENGER ARRIVAL.—The steamship Oriflamme arrived early Saturday morning from San Francisco with the following list of passengers: Mrs I B Reed, G T Bynner, Miss A K Colburn, L Samuel; A R Colburn, L Schaffer, S Allard, A V Caduell, wife and three children; J McFarland, Miss E Anderson, A M Osborn, wife and three children; F Swenck, wife and three children; Martin Short, Miss Ellen Smith, Rev J F Anderson and wife, W B Elliot, J M Vanderbilt, Mrs L Samuel, A Nathan, W G Dunlap, G W Home, W S Pattop, J N Pelober, E Carty, John Wood, wife and infant; Miss Ellen Brown, Richard Archer, G Vantaberry, S L Ramsay, S J Archibald, R McGran, R Warren and wife, and 44 in the steerage.

THE COLUMBIA OPEN.—The ice gorge which has for a long time closed the Columbia between the Wallamet and Vancouver, broke loose yesterday afternoon, and the vast ice field went down stream. The steamer Vancouver, after landing the funeral party in the morning, undertook to break through the ice. She got into the gorge, and being unable to back out, kept on bucking at it till it finally broke up and started. The steamer was carried with it for some time, but finally succeeded in working through to the clear water above, and in reaching the wharf at Vancouver in time to take on board the returning funeral party. No ice can be seen now in either direction from Vancouver.

THE FIRST STEAMER.—Our statement on Saturday morning in the article about the early days of Portland that the Gold Hunter was the first ocean steamer to visit this port, called out quite a number of the "oldest" inhabitants, who assure us that we were mistaken. They say that the Carolina was the first sea-going vessel that ever came to Portland. Her commander was Captain Wood, and a man named Oakesmith was her purser. She arrived here in June, 1850, bringing the first States mail ever received here by way of the Isthmus, under the contract which the United States made in that year with the Aspinwall Co. The Gold Hunter came later.

SHIPPING.—We find that we were misinformed in regard to the bark Jane A. Falkinburg. She has arrived in the river. In coming in over the bar last Thursday she got among the breakers and lost both of her anchors and some of her spars and rigging. All hope concerning the Live Yankee has been given up. She is unquestionably lost. The Barracouta, hence for Liverpool, was at Astoria on Friday, intending to go to sea on Saturday. The bark Webfoot was at Fort Stevens on Friday at anchor, and probably went out that next day.

SERMONS TO THE YOUNG.—The first sermon of a course, entitled "Instructions in Christian Doctrine," based upon the Confession of Faith, and designed more especially for young people, will be preached next Sunday evening in the Unitarian church by the pastor, Rev. R. Eliot. The attention and attendance of the public is respectfully invited.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.—The promised theatrical entertainment by the members of Nonpareil Lodge, Good Templars, will take place on Tuesday evening the 23d inst. The pieces to be played are The Free-Hearted Man and the farce of The Rough Diamond. Tickets may be procured of any of the members of the Lodge.

GONE UP.—Wilson, the keeper of the burglar's depot, was tried on Saturday, on several charges of petty larceny and received sentences of imprisonment enough to last him for eight calendar months. There are still other charges against him.

MARION COUNTY COURT HOUSE.—The plans and estimates for the court house to be built at Salem, have been got up by Messrs. Burton and Piper, architects, of this city. The building is to be a large, handsome brick, to cost about $100,000.

FIRED.—Sylvester Pennoyer was arraigned in the Police Court on Saturday upon a charge of assault and battery (upon Mr. O'Hears) and pleading guilty was fined ten dollars and costs.

LOUISVILLE LOTTERY.—An official list of the drawings of the Louisville Lottery has been received and can be seen at Charles Goldstein's, in the postoffice building.

SOCIAL AND FAIR.—The ladies of the Unitarian church will have a social entertainment and sale of fancy articles next Thursday evening.

SAILED.—The steamship Guesie Telfair sailed for San Juan, Nanaimo and Sitka, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

PERSONAL.

Joaquin Miller gets a terrible "blizzard" from the San Francisco Chronicle, which pronounces his poem, "Dead in the Sierras," "unmitigated bosh, containing no single poetical sentiment; without rhyme or reason to recommend it, it is nothing but a string of meaningless words, jumbled into ridiculous jingle and miscalled verse."

W. C. Myers of Jackson county, an importer of fine stock into Oregon, writes from St. Louis that he is preparing to ship to this State another lot of pure blood horses, cows, sheep, fowls, dogs and cats.

Right Rev. B. Wistar Morris attended a meeting of missionary Bishops at New York on the 5th inst., and addressed the meeting in favor of missionary work on the Pacific coast.

George A. Eden of Salem, Collector of Customs for the district of Alaska, did not leave yesterday by the Guesie Telfair for Sitka, but will probably go by the next steamer.

Mr. C. B. Plummer, the elocutionist and humorist, was giving successful readings in San Francisco on the 6th inst.

Dr. A. J. Bowie, a noted physician of San Francisco, was among the passengers arriving by the Oriflamme.

Colonel David Taggart, Paymaster U. S. A., sailed by the Guesie Telfair for Sitka on official business.

Mrs. John Orth, an insane patient from Jackson county, has been released from the Asylum cured.

N. R. Vankuniok, of Ten Mile, Oregon, wants information of the whereabouts of Wm. Morris.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Over one hundred sacks of mail matter were received on Saturday.

There was a bit of masquerade skating at the rink Saturday evening.

Clothes-line and chicken thieves are reported to be again at work in this city.

John Smith has been drunk again and hauled to jail by two policemen, one horse and one wagon.

Mr. E. T. Coleman's papers on Mt. Baker are to be placed in the Royal Geographical Society of England.

It is said that there will be a meeting this evening to organize a new militia company in this city.

O. P. Mason, Esq., will deliver to-morrow evening the second lecture in the Washington Debating Society's course.

A man named Will was arrested, much against his will, on the charge of peddling without being stamped according to law.

One Chinaman of this city has become sufficiently civilized to be arrested for vagrancy—a warning against the civilization idea.

Rehearsals for the Catholic concert are held Wednesday and Thursday evenings under the musical direction of Mr. Neefield.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATRE.—This place of amusement was crowded to its fullest capacity, Saturday evening, to see The Nick-of-the-Woods, an active, noisy, sensational and spectacular drama, founded upon romantic scenes and events in the early settlement of the Mississippi valley. The original story of the Nick-of-the-Woods, though probably not greatly exaggerated as compared with real events of the period, was more romantic than romance itself, and almost as Munchausenish as Munchausen, in the reading. Some of the principal events in the story are woven into the drama, along with a story of love, remarkable devotion, heroism, backwoods pictures, etc., making a mixture of tragico-comedy, pure low comedy and tragedy, which never fails to suit admirably a certain quality in the public taste. Mr. Waldron in the drama has several personations to carry forward, quite unlike to each other in their essentials. As the Jibbenainosy, we may say without flattery that he was great; and as Broody Nathan, more effective in his readings than one will see in a dozen. Bloody Nathan of the stage. His success was acknowledged by the audience with the most unbounded applause. Mrs. Waldron was splendidly made up as Telie Doe, and her acting was from fair to very good. Clinton made a great hit as Ralph Stackpole, the "fine-lated roarer." Altogether the play was well performed; and some of the highly wrought scenes were received by the audience with applause that was almost wild. Tonight, Mr. Waldron will do Othello.

NEW POSTOFFICE.—A Postoffice has been established at Cornelius, Washington county. E. M. Gleger has been appointed Postmaster. Our friends in that part of Washington county are now pretty well supplied with Postoffices. Cornelius makes the fourth one almost within the same neighborhood. From Cornelius it is not more than three miles to either of three other Postoffices, viz: Hillsboro, Forest Grove and Centerville.

TO SAIL.—The steamship Oriflamme is advertised to sail for San Francisco, at 4 P. M., next Thursday.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Boston, Mass., (make no tempting promises) to induce a man to insure, "and then squeeze him because they can. But talk Insurance for the protection it gives—see Joseph Middlemiss, Supt. of Agencies for the Pacific Coast, 8 Front st, Central Block—he talks Endowments for the safe, not speculative investment they offer, coupled with the security of a life policy. Mr. Middlemiss makes no promises direct or implied, and this is why the New England will annually return to each policy holder this exact proportion of the surplus after settling the business of each year. See the Agents of this Company, hunt them up. The economy of management and its experience for above one quarter of a century, and the security of the State Law of Massachusetts, make it the most advantageous Company to transact business with. The Supt. of Agencies, "8 Front," in this city, courts the acquaintance of every insurable man, to instruct him gratis on this all important question of insurance. Get a circular.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY was incorporated in 1835, and is therefore the eldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States; it has cash assets of over $10,000,000, and is the only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the Massachusetts Non-Forfeiture Law, offering all the advantages of age and prudent management, its average expense being lower than any other Company in the United States. It also offers protection against forfeiture by virtue of the MASSACHUSETTS NON-FORFEITURE LAW, which is a feature of great importance, and should be carefully considered by all persons seeking insurance. Office,

JOSEPH MIDDLEMISS,
Supt. of Agencies
Central Block, No. 8 Front Street, Portland.

PORTLAND SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

PORTLAND, JAN. 15, 1872.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR,: A kind friend invited me to visit the Sunday School of the First Congregational Church on Second street. I did so yesterday immediately after the morning church service. The visit was one of great gratification to me. The first half hour of the session was devoted exclusively to singing sacred hymns and songs. The singing was led by Professor McGibeny. It has seldom been my privilege to witness such a scene of joy and gladness on the part of both leader and young pupils. Professor McGibeny seems to be master of his profession. He lays aside all the stiff conventionalities and formalities, and enters into his work with the utmost energy and enthusiasm; his hands, feet and every motion of his body, as well as his commanding voice, are full of music. He inspires the young people with his enthusiasm and love of singing, and they all sing, and sing heartily. The Professor is ably assisted by Mrs. McGibeny, and Mrs. Hargreen at the Harmonium. I was not a little surprised to find on the platform Mr. Sedlack making his beautiful violin speak the praises of the Lord, and Mr. Morse causing his magnificent violoncello to give out its deep toned melody of praise and thanksgiving to Him who justly claims the praise of all animate and inanimate nature. The scene took me back in thought and sympathy to the glorious temple service in Jerusalem, in the days of Solomon, when the Lord was praised "with the sound of the trumpet," "with the psaltery and harp," "with the stringed instruments and organs," "upon the loud cymbals" and "upon high sounding cymbal." Your readers will not be surprised when I mention that a considerable portion of the congregation retired to the school room to enjoy this musical feast. These are happy times for the teachers, scholars and friends of this school. Mr. Stehl, the banker and Superintendent of the school, and other friends, made a grand "strike" in securing Professor McGibeny and Mrs. McGibeny as leaders for the musical department, and Mrs. Hargreen, Mr. Sedlack and Mr. Morse as leaders in the instrumental department. It is no ordinary treat for any Christian friend to pay a visit to this scene of intellectual culture and religious training. If the responsible parties connected with the public schools of the city would engage such a gentleman as Professor McGibeny to give half an hour's instruction in music every day, or second day, to the pupils, they would confer a special favor on the children of these valuable institutions, make many homes happy and many hearts grateful. OBSERVER.

TESTIMONIALS.

We the undersigned having been the recipients of the services of Mrs G. C. White in teaching the science of Music on the Pianoforte, take pl...re in giving a hearty Testimonial that we have employed her in our families as a teacher of her "New Method of Instruction," and that it has proven superior to any method we have ever known. And that although the first cost may be a trifle greater than some others, we believe it to be in the aggregate much cheaper, besides being a great economy in point of time. We therefore, take pleasure in recommending her to the patronage of all who may be desirous of obtaining a musical education, as a very superior instructor.

To those who desire to know more about it before increasing any expense, we give a cordial invitation to call at our house and interview her pupils.

For reference see advertisement.

NAT. H. LANE, East Portland.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan. 3, 1872.

Mrs. M. C. WHITE—Respected Madam—Having heard of your System of teaching the Pianoforte, known as the Robing' American Method, and having been present a few days since, at the exercises of one of your pupils, Miss Lane, of East Portland, I was much surprised and exceedingly gratified, at the perfect performance of the most difficult pieces, (such as Gotschalk Bangor, etc) and this after the short term of six months tuition.

Allow me to express my approbation of your System of your Instruction, and with my best wishes for your success allow me to subscribe myself,

Yours Respectfully,
EM. PARROT, Prof. of Music,
ja5d1m and Leader of the East Portland Band.

Throw in Reinforcements.

The Citadel of Life is in a state of siege all through the year, but is never more closely invested than in midwinter. The liver is usually somewhat torpid, and the bowels more or less constipated at this season, and dyspepsia often assumes intermittent or remittent form in cold and wet weather. In short, the sluggish system seems inclined to intermit or shirk some of its most important duties under the influence of a low temperature, and requires wholesome stimulation. The spur required is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the only medicine which quickens the action of the secretive organs, and brings out the latent vitality of the system, without creating any febrile symptoms, or the slightest nervous excitement.

The great Vegetable Tonic is not recommended as a cure for Coughs, Colds and Consumption—that field being left open to the concoctors of preparations which cannot by any possibility reach the lungs; but as a specific for the constitutional and physical weakness which invite pulmonary disease, it is literally infallible. The most insidious and terrible enemy of human life is not disease itself, but the weakness which enables it to gain a firm foothold of the vital system. Remember that Stamina, Vital Energy—the life principle; or whatever you may choose to call the resistant power which battles against the causes of disease and death, is the grand safeguard of health. It is the garrison of the human fortresss, and when it waxes weak, the true policy is to throw in reinforcements. In other words, when such an emergency occurs, commence a course of Hostetter's Bitters.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

SUNDAY Evening, Jan. 16, 1872.

Gold in New York 109¾.

Portland Legal Tender quotations 91c. buying; 92c. selling.

The Gold quotation as given above was the closing quotation in New York January 8th, as received by steamer Oriflamme.

The steamer Oriflamme arrived this morning, and will leave on Wednesday afternoon for San Francisco.

The steamer Gussie Telfair cleared to-day for Sitka and intermediate ports.

The bark-rigged Jane A. Falkinburg arrived at Astoria yesterday. It is thought she will be up on Tuesday.

The produce report, as given below, is taken from the San Francisco Alta of January 9th, the latest that has as yet come to hand.

Private advices received to-day from reliable sources state that the public dispatches on January 9th quoted the Liverpool market at 12s, but private cable advices, received in San Francisco on the same day, gave the Liverpool market for California Wheat at 12s 1½d for supplies in store, but for cargoes afloat no advance had been made, and indeed were quoted dull. This, together with an advance in charters, is probably the cause of no advance being established in San Francisco under the advance in Liverpool. In our next issue we hope to give fuller particulars, which at this writing we are unable to procure.

The San Francisco Produce Exchange gives the following estimated stock of Flour and Grain in California on January 1st, 1872. No better estimate can be formed than by the Produce Exchange, as the members belonging to the Board are large operators in cereals:

	City.	Interior.	Total.
Flour, bbls	69,410	15,850	85,260
Wheat, centals	328,317	1,480,400	1,882,717
Barley	182,874	424,000	606,874
Oats	60,947	81,000	141,947

Reducing Flour to Wheat the above figures show a total of 2,640,000 centals, or over 180,000 tons.

Late Sydney dates quote Flour and Wheat lower. Dried Apples at 6@6½d. Salmon in 1-lb tins, $2·62 per dozen.

By the Captain of the Fulkinburg we are placed in possession of Honolulu dates to December 26th; from which we learn that a severe storm had interfered with the gathering of the Cane towards the close of November. Nearly all the planters at the close of December were taking off their crops. Planters were living expenses by substituting steam for open trains, and which at the same time increased the quantity and improved the quality of the Sugar.

The tariff by clipper from New York to San Francisco was as follows, December 23d: Measurement, 15@35c per foot; weight, $18 per ton, and 3c per lb. Oils, 70c per case; Candles, 15c per box; Canned Goods, 37½@40c per case; Nails, 75@90c per keg; Liquors, $2 50 per bbl; Plaster, $2 per bbl; Lumber, $20@35 per thousand. Coal, in cargo, $13 per ton; in bulk, $16@19 50 per ton. It will be seen by those of our merchants who have received goods from New York via San Francisco that freight has been modified.

The following from the New York commercial correspondence of the San Francisco Alta, published in that paper on the 9th inst., will be perused with interest by all our merchants:

STEAMER FREIGHTS are very active, and the offerings have more than they could accommodate, and the steamers sail on the 30th inst. will be engaged to full capacity as early as the 20th; having some 600 tons on board, including 1 car load of Tea, 1,000 kegs nails, 100 tons pig iron, 1 case Jewelry, 1,000 bags shot, 160 tons pig lead, 1 case Watches, 40 tons shafts, 40 tons anchors and a large quantity of dry goods, clothing, etc. The long talked of contract between the Pacific Mail Co. and the Union Pacific Road has at last been consummated, and we have now the fact that the Pacific Mail agrees to transfer to the Union Pacific Road agrees to issue the available rates of the most steamers for a period of three years, and in the interim no shipping or booking of freight of the Central and Union Pacific Road is made the rate of freight agent and has power to make special rates for certain freight. At present the rooms on the steamers are limited, and a great effort will be made during the time of Supper freights, but the less will be turned, and when the three new freight steamers are ready they will advertise to make carry the bulk of the goods now going by rail. Rates have not been established yet, and generally the rates are lower than heretofore. The rate for dry goods has been reduced from 50 to 35 25 per 100 lbs., and goods, $4 to $6 50, blankets from $6 to $8. Boots and shoes from $4 to $4 50, hosiery from $7 to $8 50, clothing, $8 to $10, glassware, $5 50 to $6 bats, $3 to $6 50, tobacco, excepting plug, $5 to $4 50; and so on throughout the list. The minimum rate is $3 per 100 lbs for any goods, but this will be made for round lots from regular shippers.

This winter's experience has convinced many that all our merchants shipping from the East, of the uncertainty of obtaining goods by the continental railroad, and it is generally thought that the bulk of the shipments hereafter will be made by steamers via Panama.

San Francisco Produce Market.

[From the S. F. Alta of Jan. 9th.]

FLOUR Market quiet. We quote standard brands of Oregon extra at $7, and local brands as follows: Superfine at $6 75@6 87½, and extra at $7, as to qual $6 75@7.

WHEAT—The demand continues limited. We quote the range at $1 80@1 90@2 00.

BARLEY—Quotable at $1 30@1 40 for feed.

OATS—Quotable at $1 70@2 30 for feed.

HAY—Quotable at $17@23 by car.

POTATOES—We quote the range at $60@75.

ONIONS—We quote at 1½@2c.

BEANS—We quote jobbing rates as follows: Mexican, 1½@2c. Californian, 2½@3c. Oregon, 3@3½c. Lima, 4½@5c. Bayo, 3½@4c. Pea, 3½@4c. Butter, 3½@4c. Bean-Bean, 3½@4c. Red, 3½@4c. Lard, Cal., 13½@13½c. Oregon, do, in tins and kegs, 12½@13c. Eastern, in tierces 12@13c.

CHEESE—Calif. cream, 17½@20c.

WOOL—New York advices of Dec. 22d, state that the market has been very active during the week, and a further rise of ½c. has been established. Both fine and medium grades of fleece descriptions of all kinds are light, and manufacturers show more anxiety to meet the views of holders, who are rather firm yet even at the advanced prices. Pulled wools are active and excited, and 2d quality wools are still quiet, but firmly held on this basis that a few weeks will bring a demand for this description, and the small quantity here will give the holders a decided advantage. The sales of California are 35,000 lbs. on the docks, fall clip, 36½c; 15,000 lbs. spring clip, at 39c on the dock, 37½c; and 15,000 lbs. pulled 50c. At Boston California Wools are active and firm, and quoted at a small advance, the stock is small and in few hands. Sales of 162,300 lbs. spring at 37@45c; 237,000 lbs fall, 34@40c.

RAILROAD LANDS.

OFFICE OF LAND DEPARTMENT,

OREGON & CALIFORNIA R. R. CO.

AND

European and Oregon Land Co.,

PORTLAND, OREGON, August 1, 1871.

THE COMPANY IS NOW PREPARED TO EXTEND, the pre-emption privilege of purchasing Railroad Lands in advance of the same being placed in market to all parties desirous of securing them on the following terms:

1st. The applicant filing in this office a claim in the form as set forth, to wit:

To the Land Agent of the European and Oregon Land Company:

SIR:—You are hereby notified that I have settled upon and improved (description of land) in the county of State of Oregon, containing —— acres, and that I claim a pre-emption right to purchase said lands at the Company's valuation in accordance with the following resolution of the Directors of said Company, adopted on the twenty-sixth day of May, A. D. 1871, to the terms of which I hereby fully yield.

Resolved, That the parties settling upon and improving any of the lands of the European and Oregon Land Company, before the same are opened for market, shall be entitled, to the pre-emption privilege of purchase on the same terms as the Company would sell the land for without improvement, and shall be subject to the same conditions of payment, as all other lands belonging to the Company, when brought into market, provided such settlers shall file in the Land Office of said Company, written application, giving notice of such settlement, and shall accept the privilege upon the condition that when the price of the land shall be fixed, notice thereof shall be sent by the Company's Land Agent, through the Postoffice, or otherwise, as may be convenient, to the residence of the party claiming the pre-emption privilege, and if the claim is not paid by the said party within sixty days from the date of such notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person.

(Name of applicant.)

(Postoffice address.)

When the application is received, a certificate, signed by the Agent, obligating the Company to the terms, will be sent to the claimant in the following form:

This is to certify that ——, of —— county, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office a pre-emption claim (description of premises), and is hereby entitled to the first privilege of purchasing said land at the Company's value, when the same shall be set apart for market, in accordance with the resolution of the Board of Directors of said Company, adopted May 25, A. D. 1871.

When the price of the aforedescribed land is fixed, notice thereof will be sent to the party to whom this Certificate is issued, and if the land is not paid for by the said party at the value assigned to the same within sixty days from the date of said notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person.

(Signed)

Land Agent of the R. & O. Land Co.

The lands will be appraised by a competent, disinterested party, under oath, at their actual present value—no fancy or speculative price on the basis of similar lands in the vicinity, and when appraisement is made they will be sold in quantity not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres to one person, payable in five equal annual instalments, with interest from date of contract, at ten per cent. per annum, principal and interest payable in United States Legal Tender Notes. Warranty deeds given after United States Patent issues, upon payment in full.

Blank forms of application furnished upon request.

STORAGE WAREHOUSE.

For Goods, Wheat, Flour, Wool, and Every Other Description of Produce or Merchandise, etc.

The commodious fire-proof brick and stone building known as the Distillery, situated on North Front street, near the Worsdale Railroad Depot and Ferry Boat, has been opened for the storage of goods and produce of every kind. Being well and substantially built of stone and brick, is particularly adapted to this purpose, and being a little removed from other buildings causes it to be a place of great safety in case of fire. Moderate charges.
